

Where is Egypt?

Egypt is a country in the north of Africa. It is next to a very long river called the Nile. The Nile gives people water to drink and helps farmers grow food. Egypt has lots of hot, sandy desert. Not many people live in the desert because it is too dry. Most people live near the river instead.

Egypt is famous for its pyramids. Pyramids are huge stone buildings that were made thousands of years ago. They were built for ancient kings called pharaohs. Egypt also touches a sea called the Mediterranean Sea in the north. It is a very old and interesting country!

Questions

1. Which continent is Egypt in?
2. What is the name of the long river in Egypt?
3. What does the Nile give people?
4. What covers a lot of Egypt?
5. Why don't many people live in the desert?
6. From what material were the pyramids made?
7. What were the ancient kings of Egypt called?
8. Who were the pyramids built for?
9. Which sea touches Egypt in the north?
10. Why do you think most people in Egypt choose to live near the River Nile?

Text A Quiz

