

Ancient Egypt – What Happened When?

Ancient Egypt was a magical place a very, very long time ago – thousands of years before you were born! It was in Africa, next to a big river called the Nile. The River Nile was very important because it helped farmers grow food.

The Egyptians built enormous buildings called pyramids. These were made from huge blocks of stone and took a very long time to build. Pyramids were like special tombs where kings were buried. Egyptian kings were called pharaohs.

The Egyptians also wrote using pictures instead of letters. These picture-words are called hieroglyphics. Ancient Egypt was a clever and amazing civilisation!

Questions

1. Where in the world was Ancient Egypt?
2. What was the name of the important river in Ancient Egypt?
3. What did the River Nile help farmers do?
4. What enormous buildings did the Egyptians build?
5. What were pyramids made from?
6. What were pyramids used for?
7. What were Egyptian kings called?
8. What did the Egyptians use instead of letters when they wrote?
9. What are Egyptian picture-words called?
10. Why do you think the Egyptians might have thought their pharaoh was very special and important?

Text A Quiz

